THIS IS

COLLEGE

1962

We, the Martin College Annual Staff, proudly present to you the Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-two MARTINAIRE.

To its students, Martin College has been not only a life of cram sessions, yam sessions, examination blues, moments filled with madness, gladness, and mirth; but hopes held fast, dreams possessed, and yearnings pursued. Above all, our lives have been a quest; a ceaseless search for height and depth and wideness.

This annual is a symbolic record of one year of our lives at Martin College in the terms of pictures and paragraphs. Although we realize that Martin is a combination of intangible factors that cannot be related in black and white, we hope that this book in some small way will preserve the friendships, perpetuate old experiences, and recall light-hearted incidents through all the years ahead.

If the MARTINAIRE has portrayed the spirit of that life as it is here lived, then it has served its purpose.

CAMPUS

Without us, the beautiful buildings on campus would be hollow shells. With us, they are proving grounds for our educational and social endeavors; in the spacious hall of the administrative building; on the shiny floor of the gymnasium; in the quiet solitude of the chapel, in this our monument we work to prove ourselves mentally, physically, and spiritually worthy of the term STUDENTS.

WHAT IS MARTIN?

... It's Orientation

. . . A Freshman's Dilemma

I'm glad my dad has a Volkswagon!

Only one to a customer!

Cold floor ---- and dirty feet make fun on the first day.

... It's Registering

... A Hectic Way To Begin

"Why didn't I get here at six o'clock?"

"Inexperienced as I am as a public speaker...."

We finally meet the college "Barker"!

Freshmen Sweat-Shop

Is this all I get?

I'm saving my energy for later -- - a lot later!

... It's association

Getting to know everybody is no problem, for from the beginning the new freshman comes in contact with teachers and fellow students as well. From a cordial greeting with your new professor to a heated game of softball, we all soon become a real family.

No chance of the punch being spiked at the Faculty Tea!

Just what can you say to a President?

London Bridge

. . It's fun

Martin becomes the scene of the fairyland for kids and the seat of much torment during the day of Freshman Initiation.

Romper Room

Babes in Kiddie Land

Majesty of Kiddie Land

Swing your partner

Pick the Gerber Baby

The new philosophy

Looking for me

... It's studying

Everybody has to study sometime.

That question can't be answered with yes or no!

Here is a genius at work!

Be careful and don't twitch.

Student Union --- Here I come!

... It's students

Everybody has somebody!

Please, Mrs. Woodard, don't campus me.

I love a parade.

Nadezda, the answer to the Annual staff's dream!

Wish I were popular!

Maverick hits Martin!

Who was that Lady?...

We have food; the food is .....!

The show must go on!

Yes, he did kiss me too!

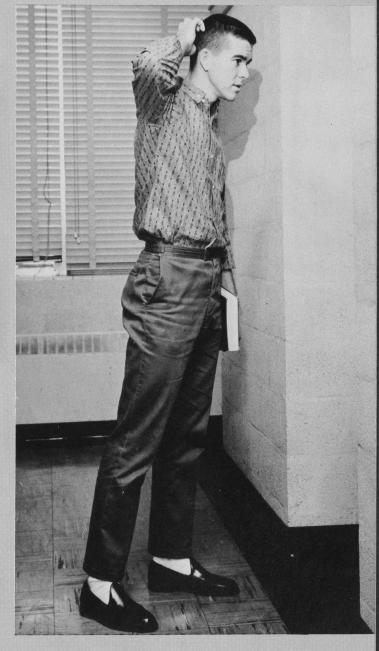

Aim, Fire, Boom!

The Bulletin Board gets noticed.

The night before Santa died!

But I don't have a brown nose!

You load Sixteen Tons!

Could this be Squaw Valley?

But I wanted a train!

Mail call in the Student Union is maddening!

He raised us, so let's raise him.

"... but my parents insist that I finish college first."

"'Have you heard the latest?
Well, it's not out yet!"

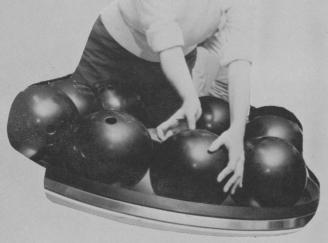

O.K., Brenda, just take one ballot!

Reach for a star.

"But, Tony, death by strangulation is not the answer."

"Now how to get my thumb out!"

We may look important, but we're really confused.

"Don't fire until---well---I think it's time ... FIRE!"

Would you believe it, I have a cold.

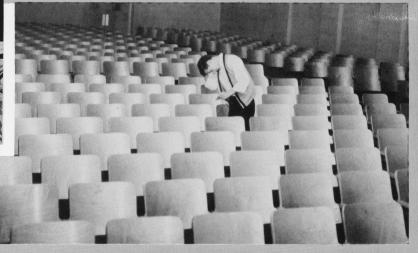

And you call this studying!

Cha - Cha - Cha

We've found the day student's hide-a-way.

What wise guy removed the seat numbers?

Guess who didn't have breakfast?

Gene Krupa, step aside.

Looking for a man or a mouse?

Only part of Coach Smith's rigid intramural program.

Just what do you talk about for two hours?

Is this Peppermint Lounge?

Who was that guy named Edison?

... It's faith

Martin will live and grow only by faith in God through worship and Christian living. Martin's spirit is centered around the acts of sharing, devotion, service and participation. All this, guides the faith and spirit of Martin to live and reign supreme in the lives of the students.

Let's play Santa.

Students take time for meditation.

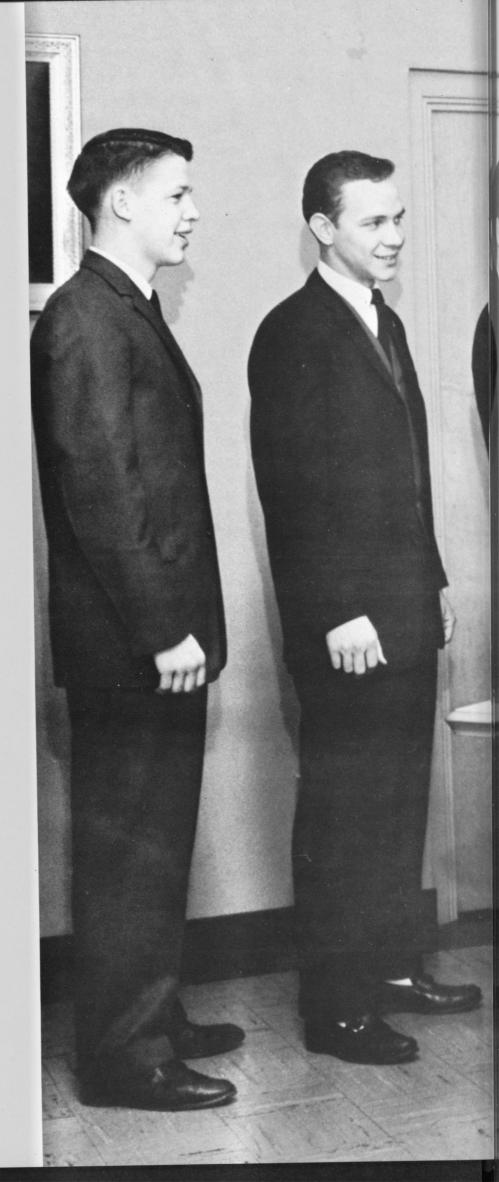

Students observe Martin's guiding symbols.

You've got to go, Indians.

Leadership

OUR PRESIDENT

WILFORD C. WESTENBERGER
B.A., Emory University
B.D., Candler School of Theology
Southwestern University

Martin College welcomed a new president this year, W.C. Westenberger. He was appointed to this position last June by the Tennessee Annual Conference. Although he is new to this job, he has shown genuine interest in the college and in the students themselves. He has made the students feel that he is "for" them. Much progress here at Martin seems imminent under the leadership of Mr. Westenberger.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. J. CLAY WALKER --- May 18, 1880 - August 16, 1961

Dr. J. Clay Walker, more than any other person, has symbolized for us Martin itself and what it stands for. We stood in the aura of his intellect and felt ourselves elevated; we listened to the wisdom of his advice and knew ourselves guided. We came to his classes, he taught us; then we left his classes only to return perhaps years later to receive again that warm fatherly kindness that had evoked at once respect and comradeship. Often have we lingered beyond the hour to accompany him down the hall; just as often have we visited him at home in order to air our problems or project our hopes.

Was Dr. Walker greatest for his ability to listen, which made each one of us feel worthwhile; for his majestic tolerance which could reprove, but never reject; or for his interest in students, which he exemplified as the prime requisite of the master teacher? We do not know. We do know that all of us who knew him have been blessed.

Fur uns war er der beste Geist!

KERMIT SMITH
Intramural Athletic Director

A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY

One of the most outstanding programs offered to the students of Martin College is intramurals. Under the direction of Kermit Smith, this program gives each and every student the opportunity to participate in sporting activities of every type. Through planned exercise and organized play, students are able to keep physically sound.

Men's and women's intramural activities include bowling, badminton, shuffleboard, ping pong, and for the boys, touch football during the fall quarter. During the winter quarter, basketball, volleyball, and tennis (indoor) are offered. Softball, horseshoes, golf, and croquet are among the sports provided during spring quarter.

In addition to the interest and enthusiasm enjoyed by all students participating in this program, a trophy, the J. Clay Walker Intramural Award, is presented to an outstanding boy and girl receiving the highest number of points during the intramural season.

ALL AROUND THE CAMPUS

How does it feel to be coordinated?

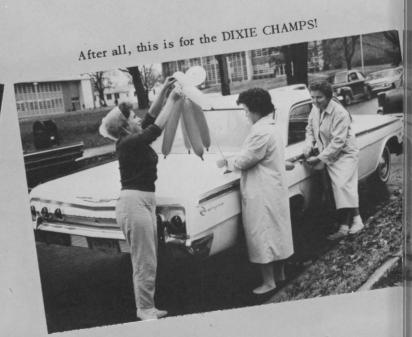

C'mon fellows, this joke can only last twenty seconds.

But I thought the toys were for the children!
